

Trustees Back Health Board Decisions

By DAVE AMEY
Herald City Editor

The Pickaway County Board of Health was told by Bob McCabe, a Wayne Twp. Trustee and member of the Trustee Advisory Council, that both groups would "back the board 100 per cent" in decisions concerning the operation and licensing of the B & E Inc. landfill.

McCabe, addressing the board Tuesday night with a contingent of interested Wayne Twp. residents, asked the board to continue to keep a close watch on the landfill and to shut it down if "you think things are wrong."

Health Department Environmentalist Hugh Barnhill told the group that the landfill was "in pretty good compliance" with State Sanitary regulations.

He said that manager Steve Barthelmas was providing daily cover for debris and was working to clean out trash that had been deposited in the Erie Canal, which runs along the east side of the property.

He also noted that a private contractor had been employed by B & E to clean up a portion of the north slope in compliance with a consent agreement with township trustees over a boundary dispute.

The board discussed an unofficial journal entry prepared by County Prosecutor Richard Gerhardt and amended by B & E Inc. attorney James Caulfield. The entry followed a recent court hearing concerning continuance of a restraining order permitting B & E to operate after the Board suspended the landfill license.

It was recommended that the board ask Gerhardt to disregard Caulfield's amendment, which requests proper notice and allows a time limit to comply with future suspension orders.

In a related matter, the board discussed placing a sign at the landfill to inform trash haulers that their trucks must be covered when bringing loads of debris to the landfill.

The board tabled until next month, action which would implement donation charges for vaccinations issued by Health Department personnel, but okayed a motion to allow the health nurses to screen all dismissed hospital patients in need of home health nursing services.

Donations for vaccinations would help defray the cost of syringes and needles used in administering the various vaccines.

Implementation of the program would almost be mandatory, board members said, in the face of the national Swine Flu Vaccine Program scheduled for later in the year.

Health nurses met with Frank Bright of the Ohio Department of Health, Division of Communicable Diseases, with reference to the Federal Government-ordered program.

The County Health Department will be responsible for distributing the vaccine to local physicians and other agencies and companies with medical personnel.

Health Nurse Linda Davis told the board that 39 children received physical examinations by Dr. F. W. Anderson and were given immunizations as needed during the Well-Child Clinic. Four children were referred to Children's Hospital, Columbus, for further evaluation and two children were scheduled for needed surgery.

Needed vaccine was administered to 84 patients at the two immunization clinics held in April. 62 patient visits were made through the Prenatal Clinic, 10 patients were seen at the Chest Clinic, two patients were treated at the V D Clinic, 28 home visits were made, 15 TB skin tests were performed, 7 patients received immunizations through the Rheumatic Fever Program, 9 received INH vaccine, and gamma globulin was administered to a hepatitis patient.

The nurses reported that 1,028 patients were seen at the eight Diabetes and Blood Pressure Clinics held recently. Eighty patients were found to have elevated blood sugar counts and three are being followed by their family physicians for treatment of hypertension.

Each person who attended the clinic has been notified of test results, they said.

Appointments were made for 8 children in need of visual exams and glasses through the Sight Saver Fund. There are eight patients on the waiting list.

A total of 52 pair of glasses have been purchased through the fund since it was established last year.

Final school visits were made to Saltcreek, Pickaway, Washington, Darby, and Jackson schools. The nurses also attended Kindergarten Pre-School registration held at the New Holland Elementary School.

Board members granted a forced variance because of a departmental error to allow construction of a house to continue in New Holland.

Jimmy Carter Wins Pennsylvania Primary

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jimmy Carter has combined his big victory in Pennsylvania's Democratic presidential preference primary with an unexpected lead in the crucial battle for the state's national convention delegates.

The former Georgia governor, boasting that "we're now No. 1," had won or was leading for 61 of the state's 178 delegates as the vote count continued today. Some results were not expected until Friday.

President Ford, unopposed in Pennsylvania and apparently assured of all 103 Republican delegates, was in Texas preparing for the important May 1 primary there.

Ford emphasized law and order in a speech prepared for a meeting in Tyler of three law groups. He decried "simple solutions to complex problems" and said he is determined to keep Americans safe from crime at home and from war and aggression abroad.

The President apparently sought to stake out an issue of his own against challenges to his defense policy from former California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

But he wound up with a pledge to "continue to insure that the United States of America is unsurpassed in military capability" — a pledge he seems compelled to make everywhere because of Reagan's persistent campaigning on that issue.

Correctly predicting that the people wouldn't listen to the party bosses and labor leaders who tried to stop him in Pennsylvania Tuesday, Carter demolished his chief foes — Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Arizona Rep. Morris K. Udall — in the non-binding popularity contest. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace was a distant fourth.

But what Carter hadn't predicted, while Jackson had, was victory in the delegate contest — and this apparent upset left Jackson and Udall disappointed.

"This slows down our course to the White House," Jackson said.

"I wouldn't be honest if I didn't tell you I'm a little bit disappointed,"

Udall said. "But I'm not dismayed and I'm not discouraged."

In the delegate fight, with 72 per cent of the 9,638 precincts reported, Carter led for 61, Udall 24, Jackson 17, Gov. Milton J. Shapp of Pennsylvania 17, Wallace 3, and uncommitted 44.

"We're going to win, win on the first ballot," Carter said, claiming his Pennsylvania triumph had pushed his delegate total over 400 and that he would have more than 1,000 by the time of the last primary June 8.

"A lot of uncommitted delegates are now ready to move toward me," Carter said.

It takes 1,505 delegates for nomination at the Democratic National Convention in New York City in July.

In the preference balloting, more popularly known as "the beauty contest," Carter captured 37 per cent of the votes, compared with 25 per cent for Jackson, 19 for Udall and 11 for Wallace.

With 93 per cent of the vote counted these were the figures:

Carter 471,344 or 37 per cent
Jackson 316,342 or 25 per cent
Udall 241,344 or 19 per cent
Wallace 143,443 or 11 per cent
Shapp, who quit the presidential race in March after dismal primary showings, 33,903 or 3 per cent.

CHS Senior Receives ROTC Scholarship

Keith Sanders, a senior at Circleville High School, has accepted a Navy ROTC scholarship at Miami University of Oxford, beginning the fall term of 1976. This national scholarship is awarded on the basis of scholastic achievement, leadership, extracurricular activities, and physical fitness.

Sanders has been active in all phases of school activities. He has been a member of the marching band and is currently in the stage band. He is a member of the Key Club and the National Honor Society.

His athletic involvement includes basketball, baseball, and golf. He was recognized as all SCOL in golf and Most Valuable Player of the CHS golf team this past fall.

His community activities include Roundtown Players. He is an active member of Trinity Lutheran Church and Luther League.

The scholarship covers books, tuition, instructional fees and a monthly subsistence allowance. Participants in the program are encouraged to pursue majors in the engineering and science fields of study to meet the technological requirements of the Navy.

KEITH SANDERS

Sanders plans to major in mathematics. He will be required to spend four years active duty in the Navy upon completion of the program as a commissioned officer.

Sanders resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Sanders, at 571 Garden Parkway.

ROUNDTOWN

Kissinger Unwelcome In Ghana

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — The government of Ghana has called off Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's visit to it on Thursday and Friday, and U.S. officials blame Soviet diplomats.

One member of Kissinger's staff said a formal protest to Moscow was contemplated.

"We know for a fact that the Soviets have been agitating with the Ghanaian government and with Ghanaian students over the visit," he said.

U.S. Ambassador Shirley Temple Black sent a telegram Tuesday from Accra saying Ghanaian officials had requested cancellation because the chief of state, Col. Ignatius Acheampong, was sick.

The cancellation was the second for the secretary's first African tour. Nigeria was dropped from the schedule before Kissinger left Washington because of the Nigerian government's recent hostility toward the United States over Angola.

Officials said Kissinger might ask Mrs. Black to meet him Friday in Liberia for a report on the situation in Ghana. He had expected to discuss a commodity agreement with the Ghanaians to protect their cocoa crop from fluctuations in world prices.

Arriving in Zaire Tuesday from Zambia, Kissinger appeared cheered by a reception featuring hundreds of dancers swaying to the rhythm of drums.

He was scheduled to meet today with President Mobutu Sese Seko.

Weather

Fair and warmer today, tonight and Thursday. High yesterday, 45; low, 31. High today, mid 50s. Chance of scattered frost tonight, low in the 30s. High tomorrow, mid 60s.

STILL UNDER INVESTIGATION — Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies, at press time, have not released the identity of a woman who was killed in this grinding two-car accident at the intersection of the Ashville Pike and the Harrisburg-Fairfield Road pending notification of the next of kin. Four other people involved in the crash, believed to be Rickenbacker Air Force Base personnel, have not been identified. Investigating officer Dan Dewey, pictured surveying the damage with Deputy F. R.

McCoy, said the woman apparently stopped her car in the intersection and was struck broadside by the car containing the airmen. The airmen had the right of way, he said. Deputy Dewey praised the work of squadmen involved in the rescue attempt, especially the 11 personnel sent from the base hospital. Emergency personnel on the scene were the Rickenbacker Air Force Base fire-rescue squad, the air base ambulance, the Scioto Twp. squad, and the Harrison Twp. emergency squad and rescue unit.

Bicentennial Commission Makes Celebration Plans

By SUE BOYER
Herald Staff Writer

Several events have been planned for 1976 by the Pickaway County Bicentennial Commission in celebration of the country's 200th birthday. The first and perhaps the most exciting of these events is the Bicentennial Ball scheduled for May 8 at the local fairgrounds coliseum.

According to Ned Harden, coordinator of the Bicentennial Commission, costumes will be judged at the ball but participants need not be in costume to attend. The first place winner will receive a set of silver bicentennial coins valued at $50 with a set of bronze coins valued at $16 going to the second place winner. One coin, value $3.50, will be awarded to the third place winner.

Guests will dance from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. to the music of the Mod Quad. The ball is sponsored by the Civic and Fraternal Committee of the Bicentennial Commission and all proceeds will be used to promote other activities of the commission.

Roy Huffer Jr. serves as chairman of the committee in charge of tickets for the Bicentennial Ball. Tickets are available by contacting either Huffer or the Circleville Chamber of Commerce Office.

The next project sponsored by the Bicentennial Commission is the Heritage Days on June 5 and 6, also at the fairgrounds coliseum. Heritage Days will consist of demonstrations of arts and crafts and various methods of work used in days gone by. Some of the display items will be for sale.

Also on the agenda for Heritage Days is an old fashioned band concert, ice cream social, square dancing, gospel singing, barbershop quartet, old time movies and various other entertainment. Harden also promises an antique car and horse-drawn buggy parade and hinted at a balloon ascension if the commission raises enough money.

Heritage Days is co-sponsored by the Women's Activities Committee and the proceeds will go toward the erection of a monument to Grenadier Squaw, Pickaway County's first women's libber, as Harden calls her.

The Bicentennial Commission will lend a helping hand this year with both the Ashville Fourth of July Festival and the Pumpkin Show since both festivals will use the bicentennial theme. This year, Pickaway Countians will see the 70th Pumpkin Show.

In September, the Agricultural Committee of the Bicentennial Commission will hold its second annual Farm Heritage Days. The project, headed by committee chairman George Hamrick, will be held again this year on the William Green and Drummond Brothers farms. It will feature displays of farm equipment and various farming activities conducted in the past.

As a wind-up for the year's activities, the Bicentennial Commission will sponsor the installation of a concrete vault in the courthouse lawn which will contain various items pertinent to the bicentennial celebration. The vault will be installed in December or early January and will be sealed until the year 2076. At that time, the vault will be opened and its contents used in the celebration of the tricentennials.

The vault is a project of the Industry Committee of the Bicentennial Commission.

A marker over the vault will be made from a section of column which was used in the previous courthouse erected in 1845 and torn down in 1886. A suitable plaque will also be installed stating the purpose of the vault.

Along these same lines of planning for the tricentennial, the Circleville Rotary Club is planning a memorial fund which will consist of $10 from each member being placed on a certificate of deposit at the Second National Bank.

By the year 2076, the CD will amount to over two million dollars. The money is left in care of the club and if there is no Rotary club 100 years from now, the funds are to be placed in trust to be used as the proper authorities see fit.

One-Hand Driving CB Problem?

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Highway Safety Director Donald D. Cook says the Citizens Band had its good points and its bad ones. He is concerned about the bad ones.

Cook said in an interview that CB radio buffs are a definite help in reporting drunken drivers, accidents and road hazards.

But he said he does not like the idea of people going down the highway at the speed limit with one hand on the wheel and the other on the CB.

"I don't believe we're going to add to our safety record if we get a lot of one-armed drivers who are more concerned with the CB than with driving," Cook said.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices moved generally lower again today, plagued by concern over the course of interest rates.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials declined nearly three points, and stocks falling in price outnumbered gainers by nearly a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers noted continued concern that the Federal Reserve was clamping down on the supply of money, and that the economy was slowing rapidly in the past three weeks. They said Wall Street has been holding back on its stock buying until it sees what this week's money supply figures look like after the close Thursday.

Another sharp rise in those figures could lead the Fed to clamp down even further on credit, a move that might bring on a new rise in interest rates.

In economic news today, the government said its index of leading economic indicators fell 0.4 per cent in March, the first monthly drop since October. The index is supposed to provide clue to where the economy is headed in the coming months.

Among today's prices, Federated Department Stores declined a point 54 1/4, Digital Equipment slid 1 1/2 to 177, and Halliburton was off 1 1/2 at 151 1/4.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average fell 7.25 to 995.51.

Local Man Arrested By Police

A Circleville man, charged by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies last weekend with illegal use of an hallucinogen, was arrested Tuesday by Circleville Police Sgt. Jim Francis for leaving the scene of an accident and possession of marijuana.

Jeffrey Danford, 20, 510 Plaza Dr., is currently in Pickaway County jail awaiting hearings on the charges. He had been freed Monday by Municipal Court Judge Charles Hosterman on a recognizance bond, according to Sgt. Francis.

Nineteen-year-old Nancy Guenther, 356 Northridge Road, was charged with failure to comply with a court order by Sgt. Francis in a related case.

She was also freed on recognizance bond on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or drugs and use of an hallucinogen stemming from the weekend arrest.

Sgt. Francis charged Danford with leaving the scene of an accident after his investigation of a 2:50 p.m. Monday crash.

A car owned by Bonnie Morris, 116 Park St., was damaged in the accident in front of her home.

Danford was picked up in the parking lot of the Pickaway County Court House Tuesday afternoon, Sgt. Francis said. Recognizance bonds on both Danford and Miss Guenther were revoked.

Pennsylvania voters also nominated party candidates for the U.S. Senate seat of retiring Republican Hugh Scott, the minority leader.

Philadelphia Congressman William Green was a landslide winner on the Democratic side.

Pittsburgh Rep. H. John Heinz 3rd was locked in a tight battle with Philadelphia Dist. Atty. Arlen Specter for the GOP bid.

Carter told jubilant followers he had wiped out every possible obstacle with his latest victory, the seventh in nine primaries, obviously including a man who wasn't on the ballot, Minnesota Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

Four years ago, Humphrey won the state just as convincingly as Carter, and he was still the choice of most labor leaders who had turned to Jackson as a last hope in stopping the front-running Georgian.

The disappointed Jackson, who had come here three weeks ago flush on a primary triumph in New York boasting he was the only Democrat able to win a big industrial state, said he was going to change his campaigning style.

"I think it will be a dramatic change," Jackson said, without revealing particulars, "a change new to American politics, a change that eliminates a lot of gimmickry, hand-shaking and press-the-flesh. . ."

Udall, determined to stay in the presidential fight to the end, said the Pennsylvania primary was "one battle in a very long war."

Carter was behind in only two of the state's 67 counties, trailing Jackson in Philadelphia, where the Washington senator had the backing of Mayor Frank L. Rizzo, and Udall in affluent, liberal Montgomery, a suburb of Philadelphia.

The variance allows for issuance of a sewage permit to Arthur Newell even though the village is currently blanketed by a Board-imposed building freeze.

In a related action, the board voted to re-establish communications with all city and village officials and zoning inspectors.

Barnhill was given permission to affect whatever action he deemed necessary after attending a meeting with ODH and Orient State Institute officials to discuss dairy farm and milk processing practices at the institution.

Both Health groups are investigating unsanitary processing practices at Orient State.

The board asked Sanitarian Bob

Kramer to continue to check for problem areas associated with mosquito breeding. Kramer reported on collecting soil samples from the Sherwood Court section of Circleville at the request of a city councilman.

In other business, the Board:

Voted to send letters explaining budgetary problems to Mayor Frank Barnhill and members of the Circleville City Council. Uncertainty over the receipt of city money for the health services contract led to the issuance of the letters. The city has not been represented at the Health Board meeting by the mayor, the designated liaison member, in over a year.

Announced that a proposed meeting with county school officials to discuss continued school nursing services was not held because of a lack of response. At the March meeting, the board voted to hold the meeting only if six representatives from the three county schools showed an interest. Those responding to the invitation were Benis Lutz, Dow West, Mildred Davis, and Al Gabriel.

Okayed overtime payment to the health nurses for their work at the Diabetes Clinic. The nurses were forced into the extra work when a scheduled group of volunteer workers failed to report.

Agreed to hold the next regular meeting Tuesday, May 25, at 8 p.m.

ROUNDTOWN

Bill Backs Payments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Judges could assess delinquent fathers or mothers for the attorney fees of the opposing former spouse in child support cases under terms of a bill passed Monday by the House.
Sponsored by Rep. Donna Pope, R-12 Parma, the bill would apply when one parent ignores his or her obligation to pay child support.
Rep. Pope said without the support payments, the parent with custody often cannot afford to go to court to enforce the payments.
The bill originally made the fee assessment mandatory, but the bill was amended on the floor to make the assessment discretionary with the judge.
Representatives also amended the bill to remove a controversial section which provided that "social activity" could not be considered a factor in determining child custody.

Rep. Pope said she meant the phrase to include dating only. But House members questioned whether it also would include sexual activity and, if so, to what extent.
The bill, passed 83-3, now goes to the Senate.
Ohio's Cradle was the Massachusetts town of Rutland, home of Gen. Rufus Putnam. He and Benjamin Tupper signed advertisements published in New England papers Jan. 25, 1786, inviting soldiers of the Revolution and "all other good citizens" to join the Ohio Company which later founded Marietta.

A Page Of Opinion

Genius Sandbagged

Few persons ever reach the intelligence level known as genius, and this may be a good thing. Studies of Americans considered to be in the genius category frequently reveal a miserable life of drudgery, ostracism by society and loneliness.

In generations past, when emphasis in education was upon the individual's shoulders instead of upon an expectation that society would provide the knowledge necessary for a successful life, there were many scholars who dedicated their lives to the invention, discovery and exhausting research of knowledge and its applications.

Public education, through which the great majority of the masses pass in a more or less concerted fashion, may have buried the age of genius.

While in other generations education (particularly higher education) generally was limited to a small percentage of the population, and a high school diploma was respected as much as is today's college degree, the number of naturally gifted individuals who did not receive the opportunities of public schooling was significant.

It was during this period of self-education that many of the nation's famous individuals emerged. It was also a period of mass ignorance.

Today, the average American has an education greatly superior to that of his parents. It is possible some who might have become prominent—and Lonely—geniuses may have been thwarted by the same process.

Diamond Jim

By JIM BISHOP

The boy was hungry. His parents fed him hot porridge. They could afford little else. The parents of James Buchanan Brady were poor Irish immigrants. The father was a laborer. The mother was a backstairs servant.

They lived in a dank flat on the west side of Greenwich Village. The little boy was alone most of the day. He wandered the piers, begging food from Civil War soldiers.

At the age of 10, he was big and gaunt, swinging railroad baggage onto wagons for nickels. James was one of the few men of history who were traumatized by hunger.

He was ambitious, though not for success. Brady wanted money; piles and piles of money. He was prepared to eat it, or to buy food with it.

When he was 18, he was offered a job selling equipment to railroads. He would get commissions, no drawing account, so he was forced to sell every day to keep alive.

In 10 years he was a millionaire. He placed big orders with firms in Philadelphia, Chicago and Cleveland. By 1880, when he was only 24, Brady was determined to become the most vulgar man in America.

He overdressed; he overate. He bought flashy diamonds for most of his fingers, for stickpins and cuff links. On Fifth Avenue, he was proud to be known as "Diamond Jim."

"If you're going to make big money," he said, "you've got to look like big money." He bought a house on lower Fifth Avenue and staffed it with food, drink and servants, and smothered all with a density of furniture.

Diamond Jim bought 200 suits of clothes at a time. They were custom-made for his two sizes: the 340-pound size when he was eating well, and the 275-pound size when his stomach rebelled. When he departed for an evening at Rector's, his valet had orders to lay out $2 million worth of jewelry.

Across his vast vest stretched thick gold chains encrusted with diamonds. One of his 20 watches was worth $17,500. On cool afternoons, he would be driven in his massive coach with a bicycle tied to the front seat.

It was specially made. The frame and wheels were gold-plated. Gems were embedded in the handlebars. His body dripped all over the bike as he puffed and pedaled a few blocks into Central Park.

He admired the reigning beauty of the day, Miss Lillian Russell. She weighed 200 pounds. Diamond Jim presented her with a bicycle with rubies and sapphires mounted on the spokes. Miss Russell rode the bike attired in a white serge suit wearing a Tyrolean hat with a brush feather.

Diamond Jim could not marry

Lillian Russell because he had married his stomach in childhood and it had seldom been unfaithful. His menu changed from day to day, but this is typical:

Breakfast: Hominy, eggs, corn bread, muffins, half-dozen wheat cakes and molasses, chops, fried potatoes, beefsteak and one gallon of orange juice.

Brunch (10:30 a.m.): Two dozen clams and oysters.

Lunch (12:30 noon): Three dozen clams and oysters, two broiled lobsters, three deviled crabs, a joint of beef, an assortment of pies.

Tea (4 p.m.): Large platter of mixed seafood and lemon soda.

After that, Diamond Jim could not be coaxed into eating anything more. "I do not want to ruin my appetite for dinner," he would say. He ate the main meal in any expensive restaurant where he could achieve the ultimate in variety of food and service. However, his favorite was Charles Rector's on Broadway.

Dinner began with two dozen Lynnhaven oysters. After that, he fell on six crabs. Then, two bowls of turtle soup.

At that point, he was finished with appetizers. Brady would eat six broiled lobsters, two canvasback ducks, two portions of terrapin, a sirloin steak, appropriate vegetables and a platter of cream puffs for dessert.

Once, in Boston, he was given a box of chocolates. He ate all five pounds. He ordered 600 boxes to be sent to his mansion.

They built a special box for Diamond Jim when he died in Atlantic City. He was 51. His stomach was 200 years old

Loansharking Law Given Strong Teeth

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio loansharks charge about 30 per cent interest per week—1,560 per cent a year—on their loans, but if caught and prosecuted under state law can only be fined $500, the House was told Monday.

Representatives responded by passing 86-0 a measure making loansharking a felony, punishable by up to 10 years in jail. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Rep. Pete Crossland, D-42 Akron, the bill's sponsor, distributed a letter from John McCormick, superintendent of Ohio's Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation.

McCormick said that loansharking "definitely is prevalent in the State of Ohio, and ... existing state legislation is inadequate to combat this activity."

He said BCI has begun an investigation into loansharking activities, but has been forced to turn its files over to federal authorities because no prosecution was possible under state law.

In one Erie County case, McCormick said, a loanshark was charging the relatively modest rate of 25 per cent per month, or 300 per cent annual interest.

"Under Ohio law, the creditor could only be charged with a violation of ... the small loans statute, which carries a penalty of a fine of not less than $100 and no more than $500 for the first offense," McCormick said.

"This case clearly indicates the large profits possible and the low risks involved, thus making loansharking very attractive to the criminal element," he said.

The bill creates two new crimes—extortionate extension of credit and criminal usury, both third degree felonies, punishable by a prison term of one-to-10 years and a fine of up to $5,000.

The first crime would include any extension or credit made with the understanding that failure to pay would result in extortionate action, including express or implied threat of violence or other criminal means to cause harm to the person, reputation or property of any person.

Criminal usury would include charging interest of more than 25 per cent per year interest when not authorized by law.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

Recently I had the honor of being one of the three judges for the "Anti-Smoking Essay Contest" for Pickaway County, and I feel that the parents of these children who participated should be very proud and touched by the remarks in the essays.

I personally wish that each parent who smokes had a chance or could have the chance of reading those essays, the concern from the child to the parent was predominant. These children are sincere when they say that they love their parents and they wish that they would not smoke. None of these children would not grow up seeing their parents go slowly down hill and suffer a long drawn out illness caused by an expensive habit. The knowledge that is available now on the dangers of tobacco is no longer a myth.

They realize that the money used to cause such horrible illnesses could be used for other purposes for their family life, remember, that if one pack of cigarettes is bought every day at 50 cents, one year supply costs $182.50. Why pay that much per year to get sick in the golden years, there are so many other things to do with hard earned money, listen to the children, they mean it when they say "please don't smoke, I love you too much for you to get sick and die a long torturous death. I want you to enjoy life with me when I have my children, and let them know how great a parent you have been to me."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, April 28, the 119th day of 1976. There are 247 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1952, war with Japan officially ended as a treaty which had been signed by the United States and 47 other nations went into effect.

On this date: In 1945, in World War II, Italian dictator Benito Mussolini and his mistress were captured and executed near Lake Como as they tried to escape from Italy to Switzerland.

In 1965, U.S. Marines were ordered to land in the Dominican Republic during a revolution.

Ten years ago: The wreckage of a Peruvian airliner was found in the Andes, and the search party reported all 49 persons aboard had been killed.

Five years ago: The FBI took 19-year-old Leslie Bacon into custody as a material witness in the bombing of the U.S. Capitol on March 1.

One year ago: Gunmen invaded the Israeli consulate in Johannesburg, South Africa. They killed two passers-by and took more than 20 persons hostage before surrendering and releasing the hostages.

Today's birthdays: President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia is 52. Playwright Robert Anderson is 59.

Thought for today: Determine that the thing can and shall be done, and then we shall find the way — President Abraham Lincoln, 1809-1865.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, Gen. George Washington wrote from New York to Col. Richard Gridley in Boston and firmly demanded a speed-up in bolstering city defenses against a possible attack by the British.

Circleville and rural areas to the south reeled under a violent storm. A large tractor-trailer assembly was tossed on its side on Route 23 two miles south of Circleville during the violent storm.

The rampaging Scioto River crested at 17 feet.

Ray W. Davis, Circleville attorney, was among the 200 persons in an honor procession at Wilmington College marking the formal installation of Dr. James Morgan Read as president of the College. Davis represented the University of Michigan in the ceremony.

The First Methodist Church observed Jack Hedges Day in the both the 8:30 and 10:45 a.m. worship services. The church assumed a share of the Hawaiian Mission work under the direction of the Rev. Jack Hedges, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hedges, Route 2.

Pvt. Stephen J. Smith, son of Mrs. Jacqueline M. Smith, was undergoing basic combat training with the third Training Regiment at Fort Knox, Ky.

J. Wray Henry, slated to retire as principal of Circleville High School after 23 years, was honored at the Circleville Teachers Assn.

"Does it sound expensive?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Not a day passes that I do not receive letters attacking me for my stand against the use of marijuana.

Some of the letters are from young people who want to enlist my support in "telling the world" that marijuana is not dangerous. I am certain that those who write these letters would like to use me to ease their own guilt for using "pot."

Some parents write, hoping that I will assuage their anxiety about their children's pot smoking. They do not want my support against marijuana. Rather, they want my assurance that physical harm will not result.

Almost invariably, there is another type of letter which states, "If my father can drink liquor and my mother can smoke cigarettes why can't I smoke pot?"

This argument is heard on every campus and, unfortunately, in every high school in the country today.

The parents' alcohol and tobacco does not justify the use of marijuana, cocaine, heroine, amphetamines or barbiturates.

It took many years of scientific study to prove the relationship between tobacco and cancer of the lungs, cancer of the larynx and circulatory disease. It took many years, too, to prove the destructive effects of alcoholic abuse on the liver, the brain and other organs.

Some of my readers ask me to substantiate the proof that marijuana can be harmful. This is not difficult because many reports have already shown dangerous changes in body organs in chronic pot smokers. The medical and scientific literature is filled with studies that indicate diminished reflexes, alteration of judgment, loss of alertness and impaired memory.

Until these scientific studies are accurately refuted and counterbalanced by reliable investigators, I feel that marijuana must be considered a potential danger.

Ongoing studies in many laboratories around the country are continuing to shed new light on the physiological, psychological and social effects of marijuana. Only when all of the evidence is in — and this may take years — will the danger or safety of marijuana be positively established.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Yes, you can change your life if you really want to. You can build a better future for yourself and your family, have the money for education and vacations and maybe even buy a boat.

Tyler Hicks talking. Sure, you've heard the message before, and you probably realize that fortunes have been made peddling hope. But Ty Hicks goes beyond that — he often demonstrates what he preaches.

Hicks' files contain letters attesting to his techniques for making money, and to many people he is becoming as much a folk hero as Horatio Alger. But Hicks is real, an executive with a major international corporation.

In his spare time he sometimes makes a six-figure income, in real estate, manufacturing, mail order, writing, consulting, lecturing. In his early 50s, he says he's grossed more than $1 million in these sideline activities.

Next month his 38th book, "How To Make $1 Million In Real Estate In Three Years Starting With No Cash," will be published by Prentice-Hall. Yes, Hicks claims it can be done and, in fact, that he can name names and show how.

Titles similar to that — "How To Borrow Your Way To A Great Fortune" preceded it. They are distributed mainly by mail through Parker Publishing Co., West Nyack, N.Y., so they don't appear on popular retail best-seller lists. But Hicks says the total sale of his books is now approaching one million.

Not all his volumes are of that sort. Many are on engineering, such as the "Standard Handbook of Engineering Calculations," a basic reference that took nine years to write. McGraw-Hill publishes and distributes the work at $19.50.

Although Hicks owns a yacht, his real stimulation is work. Well organized and rarely harried, he always thinks and works to a point. He writes on the commuter train. On some evenings and Saturday mornings he runs his various ventures, including a mail order firm, "International Wealth Success, Inc."

His optimism has overcome some formidable personal situations, such as being poor and having to squeeze in his engineering education while supporting himself, and some family health problems.

"How do you do it?" people ask him, often in collect telephone calls (one principle of wealth building he has long advocated is to use other people's money, to borrow, until you get your fortune working for you).

Hicks usually accommodates believers, but for doubters he says: "I cannot afford to waste my voice convincing you." Such people tire him, he says. You begin with the attitude, he says. You must believe that you can change, and then you must take positive action toward your goal each day. "Believe, and then act out your belief."

Hicks believes people today should be thinking about improving their finances and obtaining more independence through sidelines activities such as a small business or a second job.

The disadvantage of a second job, he states, is that it may put you into a higher income tax bracket, but it also presents the opportunity to learn a new business that might lead to financial independence.

He recommends real estate and mail orders for consideration. And he thinks people might consider the securities markets also if they have the use of some cash. He suggests the tax-free municipal bond market not be overlooked.

The mail order operations that go best, he believes, are those in which the seller has exclusive access to a product. He cautions that "if you buy your product from someone else you know you'll have competition."

In real estate, Hicks believes, "You'll have your ups and down, but over the year you'll make money." You have to accept problems. "Anytime, anywhere you're making money in business you're going to have problems."

He suggests a novice might begin with the purchase of a three or four-unit rental building, putting down a minimum of cash. With money from the rents or the sale of the first building, the owner then might consider 10 or 20 units.

As suggested by his latest title, some properties can be obtained for no down payments, by picking up tax repossessions from the banks, or mortgage defaults from banks and savings and loan associations.

In that way, he is convinced, some people will pyramid their real estate to a great fortune.

Tech Students Face Fee Hikes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Students of technical colleges who are Ohioans, but not residents of the taxing district supporting the college, could face fee increases under terms of a bill sent to the governor Monday.

The House gave its final approval Monday 85-0 and sent the measure to Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The amount of the fees would be determined by the board of trustees and would apply only during the life of tax levies earmarked for the institutions.

Coming Events Discussed By Child Study Club

Child Study Club discussed future events during its recent meeting in the home of Brenda Graf, Monticello St. Sally Lamb, co-hostess, served refreshments.

Cheryl Bircher, president, conducted the business meeting. Members were reminded of the children's visit to the Pontious Animal Farm. The mothers and children will form car pools. Each is to bring their own sack lunch and the club will furnish beverages.

Lyn Monday told of the arrangements for the installation meeting. It is to begin 7 p.m., May 17, at Shawnee Vineyards. A white elephant sale will be conducted with all articles wrapped.

A lengthy discussion was held on the club's participation in Heritage Days, June 5-6. The money making committee will decide on craft items to sell.

Lois Schiff, home decorator, of Wardell's Carpets and Rugs, was speaker for the evening. She told of the different types of carpeting, wall paper and draperies, and the advantages of each. A question and answer period followed her talk.

The door prize for the evening was won by Norma Meyers.

Mt. Pleasant Church Women Meet In Home Of Maribel Mace

The April meeting of Mt. Pleasant United Methodist Women was held in the home of Maribel Mace, Route 2. Hazel Carter was co-hostess. Opening prayer was given by Eleanor Mowery and devotions were by Rosie Atwood from chapter 19 of the book of John and a poem, "Gethsemane."

A thank you note was received from Urcie Cross. An invitation to the Veteran's Administration Hospital Day on May 2 was read. A thank you for serving the NMS Banquet was received. The letter from the Service Center gave information in regard to magazine subscriptions, a wheat project to feed the hungry, and the Spiritual Retreat to be held Saturday, May 15 from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Lancaster Campground. Jean Trott will be the speaker. A report was made on the window repairs for the church. The meeting was closed with prayer by Nelle Hopkins.

The program for the evening was presented by Mrs. Bernice Thompson and Mrs. Leland Johnson. In 1966 the first missionary trip to New Guinea was made. On May 26 they are leaving for their third trip after a furlough here. Many interesting insights into customs of life in that country were given.

Maribel Crosby and Eleanor Mowery are co-hostesses for the next meeting and Jean Rittinger will have the program.

Roundtown Secretaries Name Secretary Of Year At Saturday Luncheon

SECRETARY OF THE YEAR — Joy Slone, selected by Roundtown Chapter National Secretaries Assn. as Secretary of the Year, is shown on the left receiving gifts and congratulations from last year's SOTY, Maxine Andregg.

Roundtown Chapter National Secretaries Association held a luncheon Saturday at Community United Methodist Church winding up events of Secretaries Week.

The highlight of the afternoon was the announcement that Joy Slone had been selected as the chapter's Secretary of the Year.

Following the welcome to members and their guests, the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America was repeated and the invocation given by Marie Neff, vice-president.

Dan Imel of WBNS-TV was introduced by the chairman. He showed slides and commented on each one. Some of the slides were of Adena, near Chillicothe; the Delta Queen, on the Ohio River; Kingwood gardens and estate, near Mansfield; the Neil Armstrong memorial; the scenic Railway, in southern Ohio, Indian Mounds, the canal and many other interesting places in Ohio. Mr. Imel talked of his work and told about his co-workers on the team that travels around the world to prepare the programs "High Road To Adventure" seen on WBNS-TV each week.

The Secretary of the Year, Joy Slone, was introduced by Jean West who also introduced Maxine Andregg, SOTY for 1975. Joy Slone received a charm bracelet and a dozen red roses from the association.

Circleville Mayor Frank Barnhill spoke briefly praising the secretaries and noting how necessary they were to the success of their employers.

Door prizes were donated by Bingman Drugs, Christopher's Don Boutique, Block's Shoe Store, Sharff's Fashion, L. M. Butch Co., DuPont, RCA, John Moore, Scioto Building and Loan, USS Chemicals, Lucy's Beauty Salon, Judge Guy Cline, Farmer's Home Administration, Fitzpatrick Printery, Second National Bank, Gaib Equipment, Wolfe and West, Dale DeLong, Hall's Hobby Shop, Owens-Illinois and Glassburn Pottery.

Attending the annual event were 25 members and 65 guests. Committee members for the week were Jean West, chairman; Joyce Carpenter, Carol Moore, Jeannie Moore, Karen Sabine and Karen Scott.

Chapter officers are Joy Slone, president; Marie Neff, vice-president; Margaret Spangler, recording secretary; Diane Bennett, corresponding secretary and Martha Hulse treasurer.

In an effort to keep society news current, The Herald has established the following policy concerning wedding news:

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

Companies Quicker To Lend Aid To Consumers

Editor's Note: Mindful of their public image and fearful of losing business, companies are paying greater attention to customer grievances. Here is a look at some aspects of industry and the complaining consumer.

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

"I found a stem in my green beans."
"There aren't enough shopping carts."

"I was shortchanged at the checkout."

The complaints are typical of those received by a large East Coast supermarket chain. A store spokesman, who refused to be identified by name or store, said they are among thousands and thousands which come in each year.

Food prices and quality have been the focus of consumer discontent in the 1970s, prompting supermarket chains to pay greater attention to complaints. But the food stores are not alone in trying to keep the customer happy. A survey by the Conference Board, a business research group, found a

McCrone Out As Court Candidate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — William J. McCrone has withdrawn as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Supreme Court Justice, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said Monday.

McCrone is municipal court judge in the Cuyahoga County community of Rocky River.

Brown ordered that McCrone's name be removed from the official Republican primary ballot and from any absentee ballots that may have been printed.

Other candidates for the seat being vacated by retiring Justice J.J.P. Corrigan of Cleveland are Republicans Don P. Brown, Shaker Heights, and John W. Potter, Toledo. Democratic candidates for the six-year term beginning Jan. 1 are Robert E. Cook, Ravenna; Joohit F. Corrigan, Lakewood, and A. William Sweeney, Cincinnati.

growing number of companies establishing full-time consumer affairs departments.

The board mailed questionnaires to 1,250 companies for its survey, published early in 1974. It got responses from 433 firms and of these, 180 reported having a consumer affairs department.

Asked how many companies now have such divisions, E. Patrick McGuire, a senior research analyst for the board and author of the original study, said, "I would guess it has to be close to the 500 mark."

Some consumer groups, including the Consumer Federation of America, have argued that many of these departments are window dressing, designed to take the sting out of complaints without actually making any changes in basic policy.

"They are owned by the other side," said Carol Tucker Foreman, the federation's executive director, in discussing the company-employed consumer affairs personnel. "They are quite literally in an untenable position."

The Conference Board, in its original study, said: "It would be an overstatement to assert that simply because a firm has a consumer affairs unit, it has necessarily launched an effective consumer relations effort."

McGuire said there is "some merit to the charge" of window dressing in that a few companies "commit an amount of resources to the task that is in no way commensurate with the task."

"One can argue that not enough is being done," he said, but to dismiss the whole thing is "to ignore what a lot of well-intentioned people are doing."

McGuire said it is in the company's own interest to make sure that complaints are handled effectively because Conference Board studies have shown that "in many instances, when you get one complaint, that represents up to 40 aggrieved customers."

Five hundred complaints could mean 20,000 disgruntled customers ready to turn to the competition if they aren't satisfied, McGuire said.

Businesses are still touchy when it comes to talking about customer dissatisfaction, partly because complaint information can give the competition an advantage.

They are reluctant to give specifics about the number of complaints and whether they are increasing or decreasing.

The supermarket spokesman quoted above did say that about 40 per cent of the letters and phone calls the chain receives concern products. That's the stem in the green beans. If the store gets enough complaints about a particular item, it's removed from the shelves.

The rest of the communications are split between store operations — too few carts — and miscellaneous issues, including compliments.

"The most rapidly burgeoning category of miscellaneous queries deals with product information," the spokesman said. People want detailed facts about nutrition and ingredients. They read about problems with Red Dye No. 2, recently banned by the Food and Drug Administration, and they want to know which products contain it. They are concerned about fluorocarbons in aerosols.

The chain spokesman said the search for specific information has grown in the last two or three years. "It's much more scientific and detailed than: 'Hey, I don't like your green beans.'"

Customers with a complaint about an individual product generally get a refund in the form of a gift certificate good at any of the chain's outlets. Proof of purchase usually is not required.

The relatively liberal refund policy can lead to abuse. "We have to have faith in our customers," the spokesman said, but conceded that the chain does have problems with chronic complainers who will write as often as 20 times. Once the complainer is identified, he or she frequently gets a follow-up phone call asking what is wrong. The complaints drop off.

Why not simply tell the chronic complainer to shop elsewhere? "You can't afford to lose a customer," the spokesman said. "Assume the average shopper spends $50 a week. She shops in the store for a five-year period. She brings two friends with her."

The loss of that customer and her friends could mean a potential loss of almost $40,000 in sales. With supermarket profits running at about 1 per cent of sales, the lost customer could mean $400 in lost profits over five years. It may not seem like much, but it can add up.

Not all complaint departments — or customer relations offices, as some companies prefer to call them — are new. General Motors Corp. set up a formal corporate procedure for handling owner complaints in 1928. The basic complaint procedures have remained generally unchanged for the past decade. Grievances are handled through GM's six divisions — five cars and one truck.

Customers are told to follow a three-step procedure: first, complain to the dealer; if you don't get satisfaction, call the nearest zone office for your type of vehicle; if you're still not happy, write to the customer service office at the division headquarters.

Glen Warren, manager of customer relations said the complaint procedure, with addresses, is explained in the owner's manual — "which everybody gets and nobody reads" — in the warranty pamphlet and on a placard at the dealer.

Warren said GM's car and truck divisions get 60,000 to 75,000 complaints a year, depending on the number of vehicles sold and whether there is a lot of publicity about a particular problem. He declined to be more specific.

GM sold about 4.7 million domestically produced cars and trucks in the United States last year so 60,000 complaints would work out to one gripe for every 78 vehicles.

Warren said the number of complaints in relation to the number of vehicles sold "has decreased over the past five years." In fact, he said, the ratio of complaints to vehicles is lower today than it was in the 1930s.

Why then do state and local consumer agencies say they get more complaints about automobiles than any other item? "Cars are exposed to such varied conditions and people make such demands on them that it's not surprising you get complaints," said Warren.

He said General Motors dealers handle 200,000 transactions a day, including sales and repairs. "Every one is an opportunity for someone to make a mistake."

Warren said people have become increasingly aware of their rights. They know what they are entitled to. They also know "what they're not entitled to," Warren said, "but they are encouraged not to accept that concept." By whom? "So-called consumerists."

The greatest number of GM complaints "has to do with failure to get the job done right the first time" at the dealership, Warren said. He said the average complaint is resolved in about two weeks.

Patrolman Arrests Man After Pursuit In Three Counties

After a high-speed chase through three counties, Ptl. Mike Everhart of the local State Highway Patrol Post charged an 18-year-old man with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. The chase began at 12:20 a.m. Tuesday when Ptl. Everhart received word over a citizens band radio of a possible drunk driver.

Arrested was Kenneth W. Logan, Alum Creek Drive, Columbus. He was also charged with fleeing a police officer, reckless operation and felonious assault after he was finally apprehended on Route 71 in Franklin County.

Upon receiving the report on the possible drunk driver, Ptl. Everhart parked his cruiser and observed the vehicle as it went past.

He immediately gave pursuit and the driver of the other car accelerated to a high rate of speed. Speeds in the chase reached in excess of 100 miles per hour and Logan ignored the siren and red flashing light.

Several truckers, apparently communicating among themselves on CB radios, tried to set up three different roadblocks on their own accord. All three times, Logan was able to avoid the roadblocks and continued southbound.

Upon reaching Route 56, in Madison County, Logan tried to make a u-turn at a cross-over. In crossing over, he struck the right front bumper of the patrol car but continued north.

Three other Patrol officers, Ptl. S. L. Rohner of the West Jefferson Post, Ptl. Dennis Zwyer and Ptl. Ed Urban of the local post joined in the chase.

Just north of Route 665 in Franklin County, Ptl. Everhart attempted to slow Logan's vehicle by pulling in front of him. As the Patrol car pulled along beside Logan, he turned sharply, crashing into Everhart's cruiser. Both cars tumbled together and came to rest in the median strip.

Two juvenile passengers were in the vehicle Logan was driving. A check of the car revealed that it had been stolen from a business lot in Columbus.

Ptl. Everhart was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital where he was x-rayed and treated for pulled ligaments in his back. One of the juveniles in Logan's car complained of bruises but refused treatment.

Logan was taken to the Columbus Police Station where he was booked.

Measure Helps Utility Customers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill limiting public utilities' power to shut off the heat to nonpaying customers in winter has been sent to Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The House gave final approval Monday on an 82-4 vote to legislation limiting the shut-off power to cases where the payment is more than 30 days overdue and where advance warning of the impending shutdown had been given.

The bill would apply between Nov. 15 and April 15.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Wife Would Bill In 'Bartered Goods'

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago I had some plumbing done. Due to some financial troubles, I wasn't able to pay the bill within 30 days.

Yesterday I received another bill with a note from the plumber's wife, who does his bookkeeping. I read: "Jim does not expect to take this bill out in trade, so please remit!" And she signed her name.

I sent a check for the full amount and enclosed the following note: "I was not aware that your husband was in the habit of taking his bills out in trade, but if he does, I feel sorry for you." And I signed my name.

My son saw the note from the plumber's wife to me and recommended that I take it to a lawyer and sue the woman for slander.

What would you do?

INSULTED

DEAR INSULTED: I would send her a get-well card. She is sick. (I would also let the plumber know what kind of statements his wife is sending out with his statements.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 55-year-old woman with a problem I've never seen in your column.

I have been going with this man for six years. He is 43, and he says he can't marry me because he promised his mama before she died three years ago that he wouldn't get married until daddy got married, as she didn't want his daddy to be left all alone.

His daddy hasn't got anybody to marry, and he isn't even looking.

Abby, I am no spring chicken, and I need to know how I can get this man to either let me quit him or marry me.

NO SPRING CHICKEN

IN ADA, OKLA.

DEAR NO: Only a dumb cluck would coop herself up waiting for her boyfriend's daddy to marry. Get another rooster on the roster.

DEAR ABBY: Last night was the last straw. I cannot spend another morning picking up my garbage after my neighbor's dog has spread it all over my backyard. I turned the porch light on, and I could see Sam's tail wagging with his head in my garbage can. Then he tipped the can over, and the garbage was strewn all over my yard.

This morning I called Sam's owner and asked him to please come and clean up my yard because his dog had turned over my garbage can. He asked me how I knew it was Sam, and I told him I recognized him because he comes over every day to defecate on our grass. Then I asked him to please keep his dog tied up.

He said he couldn't because I was the neighbor who complained to the police about his dog's howling and barking when he was tied up. Then he told me to get a garbage can with a good lid on it, and he hung up.

Abby, I am ready to move out of this house because of that dog. Can you help me?

FORT BRAGG

DEAR FORT: There ARE garbage cans with lids that are "dog proof". Ask at your hardware store. It's much cheaper than moving.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Pesticide Rules Extended By Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill extending Ohio's regulation of pesticides and their applicators has been sent to Gov. James A. Rhodes. The bill, which received final approval in the House Monday on a 77-10 vote Monday, requires state licensing of pesticide dealers and applicators and gives the state power to enforce federal pesticide regulations.

If the bill is not enacted, Ohio would lose the regulatory power to the federal government on Oct. 21, 1977.

Westfall Board OKs Negotiation Package

A negotiations package between the Westfall Board of Education and the teachers' association was approved by the board Tuesday night when it met for a continued meeting.

The package had already been presented to the teachers and had been approved.

Included in the package is an increase in severance pay at the time of formal retirement from 15 to 20 days. Sick leave accumulation was increased from 120 days to 135 days and a grievance policy was adopted. A final item in the package was that the board is to provide $2,000 worth of life and accidental death insurance for each employee.

In other action during the meeting, the board offered supplemental contracts to staff members for extra-curricular activities for the 1976-77 school year and accepted the resignation of John Glanton from his supplemental duty as athletic director.

School hours for the 1976-77 school year were set as follows: grades 6-12, 7:50 a.m. until 2:40 p.m.; grades 1-5, 9:10 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. Kindergarten classes will remain on half day sessions.

Personal leave requests were approved for three teachers.

Approval was also given for the use of the Jackson Elementary school for the 4-H club officers and advisors training meeting.

The Westfall board will meet again in regular session on May 17.

Cattlemen Lose Cash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although cattle prices have improved lately, an analysis by the Agriculture Department shows that farmers and feedlot operators lost around $100 per head during March because of a market slump and the rising costs of production.

According to the department's Economic Research Service, a Corn Belt cattle feeder would have had about $480 invested in a steer if it was bought as a 600-pound animal last September, fed through the winter and sold for beef in March.

That meant the producer would have had to receive almost $45.79 per 100 pounds for a 1,050-pound steer ready for slaughter last month to break even with all the costs. But the average market price last month was $36.14 per 100 pounds, meaning that the producer's loss was $9.65 per 100 pounds, on the average, according to the analysis.

Translated to a full grown steer, the loss amounted to more than $100 per head. The cattle market has risen to around $43 or $44 per 100 pounds at major Midwest markets since then, but according to USDA's calculations, producers still have not moved into a strong profit position.

Liquor Stores Plan Experiment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two liquor stores will serve as pilot service outlets, stocking every brand and size of liquor listed in state inventories, according to the Department of Liquor Control.

The stores, which serve Franklin County, were selected in an attempt to improve service to the public, said Director Clifford E. Reich.

The program will be expanded to other areas if it is successful.

CONESTOGA WAGON — Byron LeMay, his wife, Betty, and their daughter, Renee, spent the winter months building a Conestoga wagon. LeMay, in researching the project at the Pickaway County District Public Library, discovered that the wagons were once produced in Lancaster, Pa. They were built with a rounded bottom to accept shifting loads, he said. The wagon, a Bicentennial project, will be displayed at the Williamsport Dam Days Festival this weekend and other fairs and festivals in the area. LeMay hopes to build wooden horses, which will be mounted on the vehicle used to pull the wagon. The wagon will also be used for hayrides at the Crownover Mill Campground, owned and operated by the LeMays.

Frost, Freezing Temperatures Noted

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frost and freezing temperatures reached from the upper Great Lakes region into the mid Atlantic coast states and the Carolina mountains this morning. Meanwhile, the storm which produced widespread rain and snow in the northern and central Rockies and the western portions of the great plains continued to weaken. Travel advisories were continued through today over southeast and south central Montana. Stockmens advisories were posted in south central and western South Dakota through today and through tonight in extreme southwest North Dakota.

Four inches of snow was expected in portions of South Dakota's Black Hills by today. Up to 14 inches has already been recorded in the current storm.

A freeze warning was continued until dawn for the western valleys of Colorado. Stockmens advisories were also continued in northern and eastern Wyoming, northeast Colorado and extreme eastern Nebraska.

Heavy showers and thunderstorms continued from central and southwest Missouri into the Texas panhandle and southwest Kansas. The thunderstorms showed little movement, resulting in locally heavy rainfalls and a flash flood watch for south central and southeast Kansas. A flash flood warning also was issued for several central Kansas counties.

Late reports showed rain, drizzle, and some snow falling from eastern Colorado and western Kansas into central Montana and southwestern South Dakota, and also from the lower Great Lakes region through southern New England.

Skies were generally clear over the upper Mississippi valley region, from Louisiana through the south Atlantic coast states and Virginia and over the desert southwest. Elsewhere, there was considerable cloudiness.

Temperatures overnight ranged from 25 at Cody, Wyo., to 77 at Corpus Christi, Tex.

Red Cross Blood Program Volunteers Hear Dr. Swisher

Scott Neil Swisher, MD, is one of the highest ranking volunteers in the National American Red Cross Blood Program — chairman of the Medical Advisory Committee.

As he spoke this past week to volunteer leaders and professional staff of the Central Ohio Regional Red Cross Blood Program at the spring regional meeting, he had high praise for volunteers — both workers and blood donors. Attending this meeting from Pickaway County Chapter were Etha Mae Wolford and Ruth Tammany.

"Our society is better than we are able to see at this moment," Swisher said, "and the caring responsible volunteers who are blood donors and workers are the best that exist in the American social tradition."

Because in a good blood program "there is constant change and this brings stress," he called this kind of volunteering "tough" but essential to maintain the viability of the program.

Dr. Swisher reminded his listeners that a constant flow of information to staff, volunteers and the community is vital.

His speech was indicative of this "flow". He imparted much current information about the present blood system as well as detailing challenges of the future.

As an internationally renowned hematologist and chairman of the Michigan State University College of Medicine, Swisher spoke with authority on the fast-moving developments in blood research and their medical application.

In another area of concern — the national scene — Dr. Swisher called the American Blood Commission the "one change for the voluntary sector of blood service system to solve its problems". He said governmental bureaucratic take-over would be a disaster and strongly chided the American Association of Blood Banks (AABB) national leadership for its "efforts to undermine the ABC."

Dr. Swisher called for new patterns of cooperation that must develop voluntarily within the entire system with the prime goal to be functional — to meet patients needs — not political. Underlying it all, he stressed, is the volunteer donor and worker — people who care, who give something that can't be bought and who come forth without coercion or the bribe of payment.

Other speakers at the regional meeting included Dean Dugger, Columbus Area Chapter manager, who also commended regional blood program volunteers saying "the work we all do is meaningful and important". Tom Trimble, director of donor resources, urged chapters to accept more summer bloodmobile visits to prevent serious shortages this summer. Melanie Kennedy, MD, medical director of the program, reported on the progress in the pheresis program and Mrs. Naomi Towers, administrator, and Pat Morand, assistant administrator, dealt with new administrative practices. Dr. K. Hsing Wu, MD regional chairman, presided.

Mrs. Carrie McCann returned home Sunday after spending the past week visiting with her daughters, Mrs. Jennie Martin and Mrs. Ruth Stone in Darbyville.

State's Judges Get Mobile Law School

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's judges are headed back to the classroom and in some cases the classroom is headed for the judges — as a continuing education program for jurists begins.

The Ohio Judiciary College is being organized, funded by a $60,000 federal grant.

The college will have a traveling campus, said Chief Justice C. William O'Neill of the Supreme Court. Rather than having a permanent base anywhere in Ohio, it will take up temporary residence at various law schools around the state.

In those law schools, judges will be reacquainted with Ohio law.

O'Neill said the state college will complement the National College of the State Judiciary at the University of Nevada at Reno, the present facility for teaching jurists.

"The thrust of Reno is to raise the horizons of judges — to broaden their perspective and let them see what is happening in the law nationwide," he explained.

"The thrust of the Ohio college is to teach judges substantive and procedural law of Ohio," he added.

The judiciary in Ohio has sent all who applied to the Reno college, "and we will continue to do that. But, there is no way that a national college like that can focus in on the law in one state," O'Neill continued.

He said the first courses will be offered to municipal court judges "because there are more of them. They see more people on one Monday morning than people see us all year."

Ohio Employment Rises In March

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Total employment advanced in Ohio in March as unemployment among civilian workers dropped by .7 of a per cent, continuing a decline that began at the open of the new year.

Last month 8.2 per cent of the work force, or 383,000 persons, were unemployed compared to 8.9 per cent the previous month, or 415,000, the Bureau of Employment Services said Tuesday. Unemployment in March 1975 was 10.1 per cent.

Over the state, employment moved ahead 1.2 per cent to 4,277,000 workers, with gains in farm and nonfarm jobs. All industries shared in the increase as jobs for wage and salary workers surged by 1 per cent to 4,003,000.

The rise in total employment resulted primarily from non-manufacturing, due to growth in services, trade and local government.

Factory employment moved ahead by 1.2 per cent to 1,267,000 with an increase in the production of durable goods. Other gains were made when automakers and their suppliers of stamped-metal parts recalled workers idled for inventory adjustments in February. The primary and fabricated structural metals area experienced gains attributable to increased orders and to settlement of labor-management disputes.

On the nonmanufacturing side, employment was .9 of a per cent above February at 2,736,000 with seasonal factors accounting for most gains.

Contract construction advanced from its winter low and significant expansion also occurred in service industry, and eating and drinking establishments. Employment in coal mining returned to earlier levels as labor-management disputes were settled.

A year ago, unemployment increased to 449,000 in March as the jobless rate moved up in 1975. Total employment at the time advanced .8 of a per cent and nonagricultural wage and salary employment moved up .4 of a per cent. Total employment was on the decline, by 1.7 per cent in March 1975, mostly due to a shrinkage in nonagricultural payrolls.

Average weekly earnings for production workers in March 1976 were $244.13, a monthly rise of $3, over an average workweek of 41.1 hours. Over a year's time, average weekly earnings of production workers have climbed $32 with the average work week stretched by 1.8 hours.

UAW Eyes Rubber Union Negotiations

Business News

Aunda Skinner, Cathy Lugenbeel and Sheila Writsel of Vogue Beauty Salon attended a hair coloring and styling show recently in Columbus.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The United Auto Workers are closely watching negotiations here aimed at settling an eight-day strike against major rubber producers, fearing that a lengthy walkout could adversely affect their own negotiations with the automakers that begin in mid-July.

While some progress has been reported in continuing negotiations between the United Rubber Workers and the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., it has been on benefits such as insurance and hospitalization. But the two sides say they are still far apart on the major issues of wages and a cost-of-living adjustment.

URW President Peter Bommarito, who has been in Geneva, Switzerland, rallying international support for the strike by 60,000 rubber workers in 21 states, has threatened to expand the walkout and a consumer boycott against Firestone.

Bommarito has been attending a conference of the six-million member International Federation of Chemical and General Workers Unions, which has pledged its support abroad. He is due to rejoin the talks here Thursday.

The URW struck Firestone, the B.F. Goodrich Co., the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., and Uniroyal Inc., when a master three-year contract expired at midnight April 20. They account for 65 per cent of the tire production. A consumer boycott was directed against Firestone and it was made the target company for an industry-wide settlement in which the union seeks wage increases of $1.65 an hour in the first year of a three-year contract plus an unlimited cost-of-living adjustment. Rubber workers now average $5.50 an hour in wages and $3.55 in benefits. They are demanding a 42 per cent package increase. Firestone has offered $1.15 an hour spread over three years.

The college is being set up by Judge R. Patrick West of the Franklin County Municipal Court.

West said early topics will include sentencing, in an attempt to reduce the disparity in practices among judges, and jury trial management.

He said faculty members will include judges and law professors. The classes will replace seminars that have been provided annually for the state's municipal, common pleas, juvenile, probate and appellate court judges, he said.

O'Neill said attendance at the college will be voluntary.

Foes Of Abortion Plan Floor Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators opposed to abortion are taking their bid for a constitutional amendment against the procedure directly to the Senate floor.

Senate action was slated today on a proposal by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., to include a "right-to-life" provision in the Constitution.

But Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said he would move to have the Helms measure rejected, and he claims he has the votes to do it.

Bayh is chairman of the Senate judiciary subcommittee, which last September rejected Helms' proposal and several other antiabortion measures.

Bayh says he personally opposes abortions but that he doesn't feel amending the Constitution is the way to deal with the emotionally charged issue. And he says he supports the landmark 1973 ruling by the Supreme Court, which limited state powers to enact antiabortion statutes.

Helms went around Bayh's judiciary subcommittee in a parliamentary maneuver that brings the issue directly to the floor for a vote.

His proposed constitutional amendment states that "every human being ... shall be deemed from the moment of fertilization to be a person and entitled to the right to life."

It also would give Congress and the states the authority to enforce antiabortion laws.

The measure requires two-thirds approval by both the House and Senate and then ratification by three-fourths of the 50 state legislatures to become part of the Constitution.

Even advocates of such an amendment concede that obtaining the needed votes in Congress appears slim, at best.

But Helms said that, if nothing else, he wants "the full Senate to deliberate the proposition before the eyes of the nation and go on record for or against the Supreme Court decision which created our present crisis."

Sen. James L. Buckley, R-Con-N.Y., said he would offer a substitute to Helms' proposal that would make abortion permissible in cases when it is deemed necessary to save the life of the mother.

Gun Control Backer Rips House Vote

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, an outspoken gun control advocate, has disavowed a gun control

Newsome Installed As OCA President

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Lionel H. Newsome, president of Central State University, has been installed as president of the Ohio College Association.

Newsome succeeds Dr. Leslie H. Fishel, president of Heidelberg College, as head of the 170-year-old association.

Dr. Thomas H. Langevin, president of Capital University, will serve as vice president of the group.

bill passed by the House as meaningless piece of legislation, gutted in deference to the gun lobby. Judiciary Chairman Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, accused sponsors of the bill of knuckling under to pressure from a small special interest group.

"When I first came here, I used to get out of the way when tanks and trucks came down the road, and I didn't tilt at windmills," Lehman said of the gun lobby. "But I've found that many of those trucks are made out of cotton candy."

Lehman's comments came Tuesday as he tried vainly to convince legislators to keep a gun control bill recommended for passage by his committee.

As sent to the House floor and passed last month, it required a five-day cooling off period in handgun sales and a check by the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation during the period to make certain the purchaser had no criminal record.

The bill was held in the House after passage on a motion to reconsider, a motion which was exercised Tuesday.

But in a crucial amendment, the House removed the BCI provision, calling it a threat to the civil liberties of gunowners. The five-day cooling off period itself was retained.

U.S. troops arrived in the Dominican Republic to quell an alleged revolution April 28, 1965.

State's Prison Population High

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The largest prison population in state history was reached Monday with 12,060 inmates at correction facilities operated by the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction.

The figure is above the 12,024 previous high in April 1965 and 2,000 higher than the inmate population a year ago.

The lowest inmate population during the 11-year period was 7,698 in October 1973.

The department projects the inmate population could rise to 13,000 by the end of this year.

The department is considering reopening the old Ohio Penitentiary as a reception center because of the influx of new prisoners.

Reds Roast Philadelphia, 7-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds pounded out 14 hits against six Philadelphia Phillies' pitchers in a 7-3 victory Tuesday night that put the winners in first place in the National League West and knocked the losers out of the National League East top spot, but Sparky Anderson wasn't happy.

Pete Rose started a five-run first-inning rally with a single, then opened a two-run spurt in the second that gave Jack Billingham a 7-0 lead that held to near the end, but the guy they call Charlie Hustle wasn't overjoyed, either.

Anderson was fuming over the playing conditions at Veterans Stadium, which he described as "an airplane strip."

"Somebody's gonna hit .400 here one of these days," said the Cincinnati manager. "I feel sorry for pitchers here, especially contact pitchers. Billingham (who is a ground-ball pitcher) got some tough breaks today. They only had two hits off him, three at the most."

"This place is awful for a pitcher. Balls go out of here, especially down the lines, like crazy. And I don't like these ball games where fate has something to do with it. I don't mind getting beat by legitimate hits, but not by clunkers."

"Rose's hit in the first inning, no way that's a hit in most ball parks. I'm telling you, some guy's gonna hit 80 home runs here and somebody's gonna bat .400."

So let's go back to Rose's first-inning hit which started the five-run uprising against Tommy Underwood, who retired only one hitter while allowing six hits before Wayne Twitchell came on in relief.

It was a bounce toward second. Dave Cash got to the ball deep behind the bag and couldn't make the throw in time. The reasoning is that, with a slower playing surface, Cash could have charged and made the play.

The fact, though, is that Rose's hit was the only cheap one off Underwood, who lost for the first time after beating Pittsburgh in his first start. Billingham, who needed relief help from Will McEnaney in the eighth inning, is now 2-2.

And why was Rose, who was 2-for-5 at the plate to make him 31-for-65 for the season, burning? Well, in the ninth inning, Tug McGraw entered the game for the Phils. After striking out McEnaney, he faced Rose. Tug got ahead of Pete, no balls and two strikes. The next pitch was a fastball inside. Rose hit the deck, got back up and struck out on the next pitch.

Pete was still burning as the Reds took the field for the bottom of the ninth. He yelled to McGraw in the dugout and the pitcher threw his hands in the air, asking, "What's your beef?"

Canadiens Turn Back Islanders

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

It had been a long time since the Montreal Canadiens had played the New York Islanders — 59 games and five months to be exact. But it didn't seem to matter, as the two closely-matched National Hockey League teams picked up where they left off Nov. 30 and played a tooth-and-nail semifinal playoff game with the Canadiens winning 3-2 Tuesday night.

It had been a long time since the Philadelphia Flyers had lost at home — 25 games and four months to be exact. But it didn't seem to matter to the Boston Bruins, the last team to beat the defending Stanley Cup champion in their Spectrum home last Dec. 28. Boston turned the trick again Tuesday night, upending the Flyers 4-2 in their semifinal opener.

In the World Hockey Association, Indianapolis tripped New England 5-3 to tie their best-of-seven United States semifinal series at three victories apiece, and San Diego ended Houston's 13-game playoff winning streak with a 3-2 triumph over the Aeros in the other U.S. semifinal.

Indeed, it had been a long time since the Canadiens played anybody — having drawn a bye into the playoff quarter-finals, then sweeping past the Chicago Black Hawks in four games, then waiting nine days to see who they'd play next.

7th & 8th Grade Track Meet To Be Held At McClain

The third annual McClain 7th and 8th Grade Invitational Track Meet will be held Saturday.

Teams competing will be from Adena, Barnes and Van Buren of Lancaster, Circleville, General Sherman and Thomas Ewing of Lancaster, Greenview from Jamestown, Hillsboro, J.A. Smith and Unioto from Chillicothe, Manchester, Minford, Morgan Middle from Springboro, Northwestern from Springfield, Perry Middle from Worthington, Southeastern, Washington Court House, Waverly North and Xenia.

The field events and preliminaries in running events start at 10:30 a.m. Finals in all running events will start at 2 p.m.

Rose responded with an obscene gesture. McGraw hit the top of the dugout steps, again threw up his hands, and Rose charged toward the dugout.

Johnny Bench, whose two-run double was the key hit in the first inning outburst, held back Rose and the Phils charged out of the dugout.

"I've got nothing to say about it," said Rose afterward. "I've got my own thoughts but I'll keep them to myself. Just hardnosed baseball, I guess."

The Reds played hard-hitting baseball most of the night, but there was nary a home hit, which made one wonder about Anderson's complaint that the ball jumps out of Veterans Stadium.

As far as the San Francisco Giants are concerned, Lynn McGlothen's suspension didn't last long enough.

Returning from a five-day suspension for last week's beanball incident with the New York Mets, McGlothen was nicked for 10 hits but only one run in pitching the St. Louis Cardinals to a 7-1 victory over the Giants Tuesday night.

His audience included National League President Chub Feeney — the league offices are in San Francisco — who meted out the suspension that delayed McGlothen's scheduled start by two days after the pitcher admitted throwing at New York's Del Unser.

In other games, the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3, the Cincinnati Reds trimmed the Philadelphia Phillies 7-3, the New York Mets nipped the Atlanta Braves 6-5 and the Chicago Cubs defeated the San Diego Padres 4-2.

McGlothen fell behind on Von Joshua's leadoff triple and Derrel Thomas' single in the first inning. But the Cardinals bounced back with four in the second off John D'Acquisto, who was wild. St. Louis collected two hits and five walks in the rally.

A walk to Reggie Smith, Willie Crawford's double and Keith Hernandez' infield single made it 1-1 and Crawford scored the go-ahead run on Hector Cruz' sacrifice fly. Lee Richard's bases-loaded walk and Don Kessinger's sacrifice fly capped the rally.

Dodgers 5, Pirates 3

Doug Rau, with last-out help from Charlie Hough, hurled his ninth straight victory over two seasons. The Dodgers, who have won four straight and six of eight, jumped on Bruce Kison for three runs in the third inning with the help of an error by catcher Manny Sanguillen and added two more in the fourth.

Ted Sizemore, who had three of the Dodgers' nine hits, Steve Garvey and Ron Cey drove in runs in the third inning.

Mets 6, Braves 5

Rookie Bruce Boiesclair drilled a two-run, two-out double off reliever Pablo Torrealba in the ninth inning to cap a three-run rally. Dave Kingman, who hit his eighth homer of the season in the seventh inning, singled to lead off the ninth and one out later Jerry Grote legged out an infield single. With two out, John Milner delivered a run-scoring pinch single and Boiesclair doubled to knock in the tying and winning runs.

Cubs 4, Padres 2

Manny Trillo drove in two runs with a single and a sacrifice fly while Ray Burris picked up the win with eighth-inning help from Oscar Zamora and Buddy Schultz. Burris allowed five hits, including a second-inning homer by Hector Torres.

TVHS To Seek Admittance To SCOL

The Teays Valley Board of Education Tuesday authorized high school principal Bill Toney to make formal application for the school to enter the South Central Ohio Athletic League.

The Viking athletic teams presently compete in the Metropolitan League which will be down to three teams after next year — Franklin Heights, Hamilton Twp. and Teays Valley.

Teays Valley was a charter member of the league. Toney will apply for admittance to the South Central Ohio League, at the next meeting of league officials.

Teays Valley will play a Metropolitan League schedule in 1976-77 and will not be eligible to compete in the SCO even if accepted immediately until 1977-78 school year.

CHS Untracked By Golden Gales

Circleville's track team lost a dual meet to a tough Lancaster squad. The Tigers managed only five firsts, five seconds, and five thirds against the Golden Gales.

Dave Phillips was a double winner in the 120 yard high hurdles and 180 yard low hurdles. George Moore won the high jump, Frank Merrill took the broad jump and Warren Yamarick broke the string on the 100 yard dash.

Here are the results of the meet.

Circleville will run at the Gahanna Relays beginning at 1:30 p.m.

West Jeff Tops Teays Valley 3-1

West Jefferson handed Teays Valley a 3-1 loss in Metropolitan League action Tuesday on the Roughriders' diamond.

The Vikings scored their only run in their first at bat while West Jefferson got all three of their runs in the sixth inning.

Mark Messick pitched for Teays Valley. He walked one, fanned four and gave up nine hits.

Jim Haskins was the winning pitcher. The Roughrider walked one, struck out 12 and allowed five hits.

The Vikings had one error while West Jefferson committed two.

Mark Messick led the Viking batters with two singles, Greg Prince cracked a double, Rusty Rathburn and Jay Van Pelt each hit a single.

Teays Valley is 2-5 in the Metro League and 3-13 overall. West Jefferson's league record is 4-3.

The Vikings host Wehrle 5:30 p.m. tonight.

Destadio's Triple Keys Ace Victory

Jim Destadio pounded a bases-loaded triple in the seventh inning to lead Amanda-Clearcreek to a 12-9 Mid-State League win over Canal Winchester Tuesday night on the Indian diamond.

Destadio's hit, one of two he had during the game, keyed the come-from-behind Aces, who scored 10 runs in the final three innings to gain their fifth league win in eight games.

A-C is 12-5 in all games and plays at Miller tonight.

Canal scored a single run in the first inning and added two more in the second before the Aces put two runs on the board in the third frame.

The Indians scored six more runs in the fourth inning to take a 9-2 lead. But the Aces responded with four runs in the fifth inning, two in the sixth, and four in the final.

Cloyce Hartley opened the final frame with a triple for the Aces. He scored the tying run when Starner's hit was booted by the Indians. After Hinton bounced into a fielder's choice, Jim Smith and Ed Thompson walked to load the bases and set up Destadio's game winning hit.

Hartley went all the way for the Aces, allowing five hits, fanning six, and walking 13.

Gary Kiser was the loser, allowing eight hits and eight walks while fanning four.

Tiger Tennis Squad Beats Logan 3-2

Circleville's tennis squad nipped visiting Logan 3-2 Tuesday.

Here are the results of the matches with the Tigers listed first.

Dave Crawford lost to Tim Fox, 7-6, 3-6, 4-6.

Jeff Williams beat Bruce Sigler, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3.

Jon Berlin beat Joe Chambers, 6-4, 7-5.

Jim Edgington and Tim Dietrich lost to Dick Fuller and Howie Fickle, 2-6, 6-2, 5-7.

Chip Follis and Mark Beck defeated Debbie Mosure and Mark Devol, 6-2, 2-6, 7-5.

The Tigers have a 4-8 record and will travel to Lancaster Fisher Thursday.

Mustangs Lose To Tiger Nine

Circleville upended Westfall 4-2 Tuesday on the victors diamond in what proved to be a close contest.

Westfall scored as soon as they went to bat as Jim Fausnaugh, David Clem and Rick Stillings hit three straight singles off of winning pitcher Brian Fath. Clem scored on a passed ball.

The Tigers went ahead in the third when Jerry Strawser tripled to drive in Bo Barthelmas who had singled. Brent Mancini then put down a suicide squeeze that scored Strawser.

The Mustangs tied it in the top of the sixth on a wild pitch that scored Greg Varney who had walked.

But the home team came back in the bottom of the inning as Tim Hartinger, Barthelmas, and Biff Bumgarner singled, Keith Sanders reached on an error and Doug McGlone sacrificed.

In his first varsity start, Brian Fath gave up four hits and three walks in five innings. He struck out six. Brent Mancini pitched relief walking three and fanning three. He gave up two hits.

Tony Simon went the distance for Westfall. He gave up six hits in seven innings but did not walk a batter and sent seven Tigers down with strikeouts.

Circleville is 8-4 overall, 5-2 in the South Central Ohio League. The Tigers will be at Unioto Wednesday, at Chillicothe on Thursday and host Wilmington on Friday.

Westfall is 5-8 on the year and hosts Madison Plains Tuesday.

All games begin at 4:30 p.m.

Circleville Products Perform For Capital

DAVE TRUEX

COLUMBUS — Two-sport Circleville High graduates Dave Truex (Class of '73) and Pat McNaughton ('75) are continuing their athletic careers at Capital University this spring with the Crusader baseball program.

Truex was Cap's most valuable baseball player last year as a sophomore when he batted .364 on an 11-14 Capital team. He played short-stop for Cap then, but new Head Coach Roger Welsh has moved the 6-foot, 185 pounder to first base. "I just want Dave to be able to concentrate on hitting this year," said Welsh in offering an explanation for the switch. So far the Crusaders have rolled to 13 wins in their first 20 games under Welsh this spring.

Truex is currently hitting the ball at a .303 clip with 20 hits in 66 at bats. He has batted four doubles and two home-runs for the Crusaders. He leads the team in homers and defensively he leads in putouts with 151. He has a fielding average of .976 having committed only four errors in 164 fielding chances.

Welsh, also the defensive coordinator in football, also knows of Truex's versatility. He moved the three-year regular to Cap's difficult wide-side linebacker spot last fall after two years in the defensive secondary.

McNaughton, a 5-10 outfielder presently working with the Crusader jayvee baseball unit, was a starter at linebacker late in the season for Cap last fall. The 180 pounder improved throughout the season after impressing Capital coaches with his tackling ability in summer workouts during August.

Truex, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Truex, 431 Glenmont Ct., is a health and physical education major who plans to enter teaching and coaching following graduation in 1977. McNaughton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen McNaughton, 558 Gummi Pl., and is majoring in business administration at the Bexley-based university.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE - Here's how to work it:
ANYDLBAAXR
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Stress your foresightedness in order to prevent witless errors. Don't leap at ideas or suggestions made by those who could mislead through a pleasing manner.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May, 21): Follow your hunches now. An idea which may seem a bit "offbeat" when first conceived could prove to be a real inspiration.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Mercury, in excellent position, puts your native ingenuity and perceptiveness at a peak. A time in which to spread your wings a bit — if time and obligations permit.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Dogged persistence will be day's need; also, the fortitude not to break your stride hesitantly when obstacles, new problems appear. Use that bright mind of yours!

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Curb a tendency toward lethargy since solar influences promise fine achievement if you're "on the ball." The Leoite is rarely lax, but such inclinations prevail now.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Your ability to weather "stormy" periods will be of great help now. You may run into some opposition, some unexpected situations, but eventual returns will be worth fighting for.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Patience and a sense of humor needed now. Do not let minor annoyances get the better of you or you may blow them out of proportion.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Fine influences should help you put this day "over the top." Polish up a dormant talent for unique, unexpected use.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Uncertainty could offset your best efforts, so be decisive. Marshal all your talents, will power and know-how with a view toward taking brisk steps forward.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Don't slacken your efforts because others are in a frivolous mood. Consider your own interests — especially now when influences stimulate new ideas for improving your status.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Fine stellar aspects encourage your creative interests. Also favored: romance, family concerns and cultural activities.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You may encounter some opposition, but it need not deter your better efforts. Handle it diplomatically — and go on to bigger and better achievement.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly sensitive and truly imaginative; have an especial affinity for the arts. You are a true humanitarian and would make an excellent physician, sociologist or educator. You make the most of modern devices and your thinking is truly progressive. You have a great love of beauty, both as applied to nature and the arts; are extremely discriminating in your tastes. A wholesome outlook on life and optimism in the face of obstacles are also notable traits. Fields in which you could excel: writing, journalism, diplomacy, music and painting. Birthdate of: William Randolph Hearst, newspaper magnate; Duke Ellington, pianist, composer.

New Mayor

ECORSE, Mich. (AP) — Mrs. Dora Gaines, a 48-year-old black woman, has been appointed by the city council as Ecorse's new mayor.

Mrs. Gaines, who until her appointment was the mayor pro tem, is the city's first woman and black mayor.

A life-long resident of Ecorse, she is the mother of nine children. Her husband, John, is a painter for the city and also operates a painting business of his own.

Police Find Motorcycle

A 1967 Yamaha motorcycle, owned by Herman Turnage, 323 Huston St., was recovered Tuesday by Circleville Police Ptl. Ron Thompson after it was reported stolen Sunday or Monday.

Ptl. Thompson found the motorcycle, valued at $600, at 813 S. Clinton St.

It had been stolen from Turnage's garage.

Ralph Leist, 140 W. Mill St., told police that thieves took a rifle and scope, valued at $200, from a storage area in the boiler room at the rear of the Pickaway County Court House.

The weapon is a Winchester 61 .22 caliber rifle with octagon barrel and a Weaver K-4 scope.

Police are also attempting to locate a jeep which was seen driving through a plowed field across from the Nicholas Drive School.

The incident occurred 7:55 p.m. Tuesday. Corn planted in the field was damaged.

Chillicothe ONG Unit To Stay In Ohio For Training

LTC. Edward Foltz, commander of the 216th Engineer Battalion, Ohio Army National Guard, announced the battalion will conduct annual summer training during July within the state. In the past, it has been the custom for National Guard Units to travel out of state during their two weeks of active duty training.

Current plans call for company A, located in Chillicothe, to remain near the home armory performing several projects already assigned by the state and conducting tactical training in the local area.

Part of the training will consist of grading, clearing trails, building a dam, and completion of several small projects at the Girl Scout camp.

Other plans call for upgrading Camp Sherman Rifle Range. Several target machines will be replaced, roads will be graded, parking area and bivouac sites will be expanded and other general maintenance will be performed.

Teays Valley Board Approves Application To SCO League

In a continued meeting Tuesday night, the Teays Valley Board of Education authorized the high school principal to make formal application to the South Central Ohio Athletic League. The board then discussed the scheduling possibilities for next year and Bill Toney, high school principal, presented a draft of his proposed schedule.

The board also re-employed 17 non-certificated staff members whose contracts expired this year and agreed to notify one staff member that she would not be re-assigned for the 1976-77 school term as she had indicated a desire not to return.

Ray Swoyer was employed for seasonal mowing for the school district.

A field trip for the Scioto Elementary fifth graders was approved to the Wright Patterson Air Force Museum on May 19. The group will be under the supervision of the teachers and selected parent chaperones.

Bids for the window replacement were considered and the contract awarded to J. W. Walker and Son of Columbus. With the installation of these windows, the district's eight-year project will be completed.

Action was also taken to install a 10,000 gallon gasoline tank at the high school for use by the buses. The tank is to be purchased from Hamilton Welding.

Authorization was given for the Ashville elementary building to be used for a dinner for retiring teachers in the district.

In final action, the board voted to improve the statement of value for the public property insurance coverage with the Newman Agency.

The board then formally adjourned the meeting and went into executive session for negotiations with the classroom teachers association of the district. The board will meet again in regular session on May 24.

Pre-Business Workshop Offered At PRJVS

Prospective small business owners will have an opportunity to learn what it takes to start and operate a successful business through a workshop announced today by Frank D. Ray, who is Director of the Columbus District Office of the U.S. Small Business Administration.

The workshop program — "Keys to Business Success" — calls for a two evening workshop for men and women who are considering starting businesses of their own or buying a new one. The workshop is sponsored by the Small Business Administration, Chillicothe-Ross Chamber of Commerce, Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce and Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School.

The program is scheduled to be held from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m., Monday and Tuesday, May 10 and 11 at the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School, Crouse Chapel Road. There is a $3 registration fee.

Attendance is open to all individuals considering a new business or who have been in business less than one year. Subjects covered are personal factors for business success, business financing, taxes and insurance, organization and planning, management techniques, choosing a location and sources of assistance and information. Local speakers in these professional fields will conduct the workshop.

The reason behind the workshop is to help small business owners avoid the problems that lead to business failure. Mr. Ray points out that most failures can be prevented because they are due to lack of management experience and know-how. The need for management knowledge is essential for business success and it is SBA's aim to inform potential owners of the dangers involved and some things they can do to help achieve success.

Requests for workshop registration, along with the $3 registration fee, should be mailed to Tom Harp, Pickaway-Ross County JVS, Route 1, Box 254-A, Crouse Chapel Road, Chillicothe, Ohio 45601. Enrollment is limited to 35 and registrations will be accepted on a first come first served basis.
